CUVÉE IMPORTS

At Cuvée Imports, we believe in family dinners, appreciating life as it unfolds and the satisfaction of a hard day's work. Most importantly we believe in people - from the people who make our wines to the people you are sharing your next bottle with. That is the legacy we are building and we invite you to walk by our side in the journey.

We believe in developing close relationships with our producers as well as our distribution partners to build long term success. We believe that the consumer needs to feel connected to the wine they drink, and we wish to work together with producers to bring them the full experience of wine. History, tradition, family, and authenticity are the stories we seek to tell.

Mendoza

Familia Millán

Sustainable

Familia Millán is a family winery founded by José Jesús Millán in Mendoza, Argentina, over fifty years ago with vineyards originating in 1922. José Junior runs the estate now, in the land where he was raised, surrounded by the beautiful landscape of Mendoza with the Andes mountains, vineyards and of course the world renown Malbec. Abrasado is a play on words that combines "asado", meaning both to grill meat and also to spend time with friends, with "abrazado" which means to embrace. Thus, the Abrasado wines are meant to bring together cherished friends with a fabulous meal.

Carnuntum

Michaela Riedmuller

The vineyards are located on two of the most exciting locations of Carnuntum: on the slopes of Spitzerberg and Braunsberg. Both are – from a geological point of view – foothills of the Lesser Carpathians and declared nature reserves. Similar to each other and at the same time very different. Even as a child, the nature reserves with their sandy-clay or lime-rich terroir and the humidity of the Danube exerted a huge fascination on me. There is no doubt since then: to give all this to the vines and the grapes in order to be able to make them characterful and origin-influenced wines.

Organic

The history of our family business began no less than 150 years ago. From a traditional mixed agricultural business of the great-grandparents with a focus on arable farming and cattle breeding, the farm developed into a classic winery. The current generation recognized the rich potential of our soil and set the first milestone for today's wine production.

Rosner Blauer Zweigelt Klassik

Organic

Langenlois' tradition in viticulture goes back to the middle age and was practiced by its townspeople from that time on. Theresia and Johann Rosner bought the wine estate's house in 1897 and seven years later the wine cellar where wine has been produced up to today. As of 1934 Leopoldine and Franz Rosner continued the family's tradition and cultured the vines. 1958 Margarete and Franz Rosner took over the winery and expanded both, the cellar and the land. Since 1995 Renate and Norbert Rosner have been in charge and modernized the winery as well as extended the areas for vineyards.

Mickaël Marillier alongside his father Jean-Pierre, and Laurent Chardigny jointly manage the estate. The three men share the same philosophy and work in the same direction. The entire vineyard is managed according to the principles of sustainable management and the plots are grassed. Champagne

Champagne Jean Diot

Organic

In the beginning of the 1960's, Jean DIOT created the champagne who would hold his name. During the following years, he cultivated the family estate with the goal to preserve the family values and their traditions. The estate was then inherited by his children in 1998. Maison Jean Diot, based in Vinay from day one, carries on the will of its founder by producing several vins de Champagne thanks to the meticulous farming of the vineyards located on the south hills of Epernay and in the Marne's valley. A unique savoir-faire connects the vine to the wine-grower who takes care of the grape in any circumstances, the vines in return offer their most sumptuous grapes for the making of exceptional champagnes. Whole year long, the wine growing artisans look after the vineyards, to the delicate perfume of the vine variety : Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier and Chardonnay; each of them bringing their own characteristics and subtleties.

Located on the east of the village of Vinsobres, protected from the Mistral winds, the vineyards of Domaine Saint Vincent inhabit the land of the former convent of Saint Césaire de Nyons, where a chapel was erected in memory of Saint Vincent, the patron saint of winegrowers. St Annaberg

Organic

As we affectionately call the winery, has been part of our family since 1998. It is embedded on the edge of the Palatinate Forest, which protects the winery and its vines from storms and creates a cool, optimal climate for Riesling. Along the Southern Wine Route you can see it from afar. Below the St. Anna Chapel it is lined with terraced vineyards of the monopoly location "Burrweiler St. Annaberg" (solely owned location). On 7 hectares, the focus is on Riesling, meanwhile, 5 further hectares were in the "hidden" and gradually complement the range.

300 hundred years of winemaking. To be able to make good wine, you have to live the viticulture. For this it is important to know exactly his vineyards and the different varieties with all their special features, because quality management begins in the vineyard. For this reason, we are involved in the entire production process throughout the year in order to leave a clear and individual signature for our wines. Location and weather are not influenced, so it is up to us every year, in interaction with nature, to get the best out of our vineyards.

Weingut Hirt-Gebhardt

Conventional

The Hirt-Gebhardt winery has its origin in the center of the traditional wine village of Martinsthal in the Rheingau, where the Gebhardt winemaking family has been mentioned in documents since the end of the 30-year war. Through marriage, the present name of the winery was created in 1948. Over time, Christian Gebhardt, today's senior, with his wife Elke and the support of his parents, has grown a flourishing winery with 23 hectares of vineyards from a small family business. Today, his son Christian Gebhardt Jr. is the owner of the company and thus follows in his father's footsteps. He and his wife Claire continue the family's winemaking tradition together. In order to withstand the structural change and further development in viticulture, they have decided to relocate from the narrow town in Martinsthal to the Eltviller Sonnenberg. With a lot of work, heart and soul and above all the support of a strong family, they have set up their new winery in Eltville.

Rheinhessen

Weingut Gebert

Sustainable

Up to the 2019 vintage, the winery has been managed by Hans Joachim Gebert for more than 30 years. In the fifth generation, he restructured the farm from a mixed operation to a pure viticultural focus at the beginning of his career, developed the site portfolio to 28 parcels in four single vineyards to form a coherent collection, and shaped the flavor profile through quality standards and stylistics in the vineyard and cellar. There are hardly more combinations of subsoil, slope, wind direction, solar radiation and precipitation than in Rheinhessen. This multitude of microclimatic differences is particularly reflected in our four small parcel vineyard sites. Besides this diversity, defining the right grape varieties, lineages and weather-related different working steps in each case is what "terroir" means to us.

Lajver

Sustainable

Renowned Hungarian and foreign experts have helped us to create a winery between the hills of Szekszárd that makes full use of the possibilities offered by nature with the help of the most modern technology. The processing and cellar, sunk to a depth of thirty meters, utilises the Earth's gravitational energy and natural heat storage capacity, thus ensuring the most gentle processing possible. The thirty terraced plantations formed on four boards perfectly adapt to the bed of the Lajvér stream, which provides a special and natural microclimate for the estate. This not only means that there are several degree temperature differences between the lower and upper terraces throughout the year, but also that the water content of the soil is varied. The valley, as a natural wind tunnel, ventilates the foliage and clusters of the plantations, thus helping environmentally conscious viticulture. This variety allows all of our twelve grape varieties to feel at home.

The boutique Balassa winery was established in 2005 by Istvan Balassa in the historic Tokaj wine region in Hungary. Right from the beginning, Istvan, a perfectionist, was determined to produce only the highest-quality wines possible by maximising the potential of each vintage. The Hársányi Winery is located in the eastern part of Tokaj-Hegyalja, near Sárospatak. The estate is unique in that, with the exception of the Rákosi period, it has been in the family for more than 170 years. In 1850, the seed of the vineyard was bought by the current owner's (Gábor Hársányi) great-great-grandfather, Jakab Rick, who was the founder of the first pharmacy in Sárospatak. In 2012, Gábor Hársányi assumed responsibility for the estate and keeping the family heritage in mind, he has expanded the size of the estate and moved to the most modern viticultural and oenological techniques. A committed believer in quality, handcrafted winemaking, his work combines tradition, as well as modernity and expertise.

Bonelli

Sustainable

Anacleto Bonelli founded the winery in the mid 40s, right after the war. In what could be defined today as a pioneering move, he built an activity that was extremely thoughtful of the surrounding territory by creating a network of vine growers in the Trebbia Valley and producing a new, distinctive wine, which reflected and valorized the peculiarities of the area: the Trebbianino Val Trebbia, produced with autochthonous grapes. What Anacleto pioneered almost 75 years ago is defined today as sustainability, by supporting the local community, Cantine Bonelli allows the valley to thrive and encourage future generations of growers to remain in their home region. The activity he started has been flourishing for three generations, and the family still follows his example by working with the same passion and dedication. The Trebbia Valley is a hilly area that constitutes a balanced ecosystem of vineyards alternated to woodlands and crops, making up a perfect model of biodiversity. The gravelly soil is the most ancient of all the surrounding areas and is overlooked by majestic magmatic peaks such as the Pietra Parcellara. Cantine Bonelli focuses on indigenous varietals such as Ortrugo, Malvasia di Candia, Bonarda (Croatina) and Barbera. The viticultural practices, sustainable to minimize environmental impact, maintain low yields, employ hand harvesting while the sugar, acid and taste are all in optimum balance. This allows the unique terroir to show through in each vintage.

Since the beginning of 1900 the family Bettili has both cultivated vines and made and sold wine in the hills in the northeast of Verona. In 2013, Cristiana concluded the takeover of an historical and famous winery founded during the sixties in the area of Friuli Grave DOC, where the stony soils gives wines mineral aromas and a fresh taste. With deep convictions for sustainable practices, Cristiana focuses on healthy grapes and vineyards to minimize efforts in the cellar. Following these beliefs, the vineyards of Tenuta Plözner have been certified organic since 2016.

Sicily

Cantine Grasso

Sustainable

Founded in 1887, five generations have farmed these vineyards in Milazzo of northeast Sicily. Today, Alessio, along with his sons Tullio and Carmelo, passionately remain committed to preserving tradition and skill, while utilizing sustainable practices and modern methods to produce quality wines consistently from year to year. All grapes are grown organically without chemical treatments and only vegetal fertilizers are used in the vineyards. The light and warmth of the Sicilian sun, together with the light coastal breeze and the beneficial temperature ranges, allow grapes to gradually ripen up to the moment of hand-harvesting, giving the wines pleasantly rounded notes and full expression.

Tuscany

Piandaccoli

Organic

The estate began with the cultivation of vineyards by monks in 1100, before the phylloxera epidemic that hit Europe in the mid-nineteenth century wiped out the indigenous varieties present in Tuscany. Piandaccoli emerges in 1950 with the production of Chianti, but it was the vision of Dr. Giampaolo Bruni that set the stage for this incredible winery's future. He collaborated with the University of Florence, using DNA testing on grapes found in the Medici tombs, to reintroduce autochthonous varieties prevalent during the Italian Renaissance. All 20 hectares of the estate were replanted in 2004, and along with Sangiovese, Piandaccoli planted the indigenous varieties of Foglia Tonda, Pugnitello, Barsaglina, Colorino and Mammolo. This project produces truly unique and delicious wines with incredible history.

Sorsei

Certified Organic

The Bettili family, originally from the town of Soave, are winegrowers since the early decades of the twentieth century, in addition to being winemakers and wine traders. In 1965, Siro, the father of Cristiana, leaves the original family vineyards to buy a farm in the hinterland of Garda lake, in Cavaion. Discovering that this land is suited to the cultivation of vines, Siro decided to continue the family tradition and begins to cultivate the forty year old vineyard existing on the estate. In 1999 Cristiana enters in the company, converting the 3 hectares of vineyards into organic practices. Between 2002 and 2005 the vineyard is renovated with the modern way of training, Guyot. Tenuta Sorsei takes its name from an ancient location, Sorsei, where there was a well where everyone drew water from. The wells, as the stone walls, are widespread in the town of Cavaion, a pretty little town in the hinterland of Lake Garda.

Since the beginning of the 1900s, the Bettili family has been producing wines in the hills east of Verona. When Cristiana's father bought an estate in 1977 to operate his poultry farm, there were 8 hectares of old vines present in this Valpolicella classified appellation. Later, Cristiana took charge of the vines and with rigorous efforts to renew the vineyards, restore buildings for production and implement organic methods. Certified organic since 1999, the wines of Tenuta Vignega express tradition, character and typicity all under the directive to respect the environment.

Quinta do Lagar Novo

A small agricultural property with a history of producing grapes and wines, developed over more than 200 harvests. It has approximately 5 hectares of vineyards, planted according to the best and most recent viticultural techniques, under the guidance of the owner Luís Elias Gonçalves de Carvalho. At the turn of the millennium, Luís Carvalho gathers his family and announces that he wants to convert the entire vineyard area to grape varieties with higher quality potential. Based on his knowledge and records, he opted for white grape varieties. Enology was entrusted to his eldest son, Tiago. Viticulture was given to his son, João. Design was handled by his daughter, Helena.

Impensata

Impensata is a family-inspired project with two estate vineyards: the historic Engelhard Vineyard in the western hills of Calistoga and the Ciminelli Vineyard maturing at the summit of Howell Mountain, a project most thought not possible to achieve. In addition to the estate vineyards, Impensata is privileged to source from two legendary vineyards on Howell Mountain: Ecotone (formerly known as Thorevilos) and David Abreu's Las Posadas. The vision for Impensata started the way it continues today—around a table laden with wine and brimming with conversation. With a shared passion for Tuscan winemaking. With a daring spirit to build something new...
